Dianne -

Please see the email trail concerning the BRP and whether it is subject to the open meet laws in Nevada. Gen Bath or I can give you in person how the issue was raised, if you are interested. Since the issue was raised outside the BRP, I thought it prudent to ask the Guard JAG for an opinion on it. His opinion is attached and doesn't say much, other than he thinks the BRP might be subject to the open meeting law. I know we don't receive any State Funding so that might be a mitigating factor, in addition we also dive into classified discussions on a regular basis and are really looking at how to expand the Federal missions that the Nevada National Guard performs and in so doing benefit the State with their State Missions. In any case, can you have Mr. Josh Hicks look into whether the BRP is subject to the opening meeting laws and whether we need to get an Attorney General's ruling. Thank you.

I will follow your direction and send the information to Governor's office for guidance. However the emphasis of the BRP is concerned with identifying the Vision for the Nevada Guard and its Federal Processes and Missions and transmit that to the Governor. Even though it was attributed to you as for how the issue of the Open Meeting Law was raised, it really doesn't matter how or who raised it, since it was raised outside the BRP. Thank you for your quick response.

Bill, I shared your message below with the JAG. The BRP proceedings were initiated by a Governor's Executive Order and therefore, if a formal AG opinion is sought it should be the Panel or the Governor's office requesting it. As neither I or the NG itself is officially part of the process, only certain members appointed by the Governor, it would not be me who asks for the opinion. It is also not my decision how you or the Panel chooses to proceed as, again, I am not part of that process. I suggest you ask for the opinion of the Governor's legal advisor, Josh Hicks, on how you should proceed. It is not I who asked for or raised the issue of the Open Meeting Law. It is my understanding that this issue was raised by Ron Bath. And, as the meetings that occur at the Guard are part of our Federal Processes and not part of a formal "State Public Body" established by State Executive or Legislative order or statute, the "State" open meeting laws do not apply.

Gen

At a recent BRP meeting, it was mentioned that you were wondering if BRP deliberations and meetings were subject to the open meeting law, and so we sought clarification. Please find the attached opinion rendered from the NNG's JAG office concerning the subject.

Since LTC Blower, as a department legal advisor, suggests an AG opinion, if such an opinion is sought, we would defer that request to you at the cabinet level. The long term impact of his conservative interpretation may very well open up all meetings you and the other senior members of the NNG conduct within and for the State of Nevada's Military Department. Please note that the BRP does not receive any "Nevada Tax Revenues" for its purpose, and will only craft alternatives for the Governor, but on the other hand, the NNG does receive tax revenues for its state mission.

If you desire, we are prepared to post notice and open the meetings to whomever might appear. In my humble opinion it could open "Pandora's Box" to long time National Guard mis-contents, anti-military groups and the likes. But the BRP wants to be totally within the bounds of the law at all times, and never jeopardize the Nevada Military Department. My suggestion would be that since we normally are discussing most issues at the classified level, that you to take the position that we are not subject to the requirement and that we press forward with our work. A middle ground alternative could be that we post notice and open the meetings once our report is ready to be forwarded to Gov Gibbons, but I am standing by to hear how you wish to proceed.

BG Fitch and BG Burks,

Attached please find my opinion concerning the BRP and Nevada's Open Meeting Law (OML). As I note, this is my first foray into this issue, and am certainly not an expert on the issue. However, my review of the statutes and Attorney General opinions leads me to conclude that the BRP may be subject to the OML. I recommend that the BRP seek an opinion from the Attorney General's office to get a ruling on this issue.

Dear Governor:

Hopefully you recall that, at our breakfast last month we discussed my running for re-election as National Committeeman, and you told me that you would support me for re-election should I decide to run.

This is to advise you that after getting feedback from many of the people I have worked with over these past five plus years urging me to run, I have decided to do so. In the event that you should see fit to appoint me to a State Commission such as we discussed, then it would be my intent to resign from the National Committee, and ask the State Central Committee to elect a successor in my place.

Consequently, I respectfully ask that you write a letter of endorsement supporting my candidacy for re-election, I would then distribute it to the delegates at the State Convention. I will be most grateful.

Sincerely,

Joe W. Brown

Please see the email trail concerning the BRP and whether it is subject to the open meet laws in Nevada. Gen Bath or I can give you in person how the issue was raised, if you are interested. Since the issue was raised outside the BRP, I thought it prudent to ask the Guard JAG for an opinion on it. His opinion is attached and doesn't say much, other than he thinks the BRP might be subject to the open meeting law. I know we don't receive any State Funding so that might be a mitigating factor, in addition we also dive into classified discussions on a regular basis and are really looking at how to expand the Federal missions that the Nevada National Guard performs and in so doing benefit the State with their State Missions. In any case, can you have Mr. Josh Hicks look into whether the BRP is subject to the opening meeting laws and whether we need to get an Attorney General's ruling. Thank you.

I will follow your direction and send the information to Governor's office for guidance. However the emphasis of the BRP is concerned with identifying the Vision for the Nevada Guard and its Federal Processes and Missions and transmit that to the Governor. Even though it was attributed to you as for how the issue of the Open Meeting Law was raised, it really doesn't matter how or who raised it, since it was raised outside the BRP. Thank you for your quick response.

Bill, I shared your message below with the JAG. The BRP proceedings were initiated by a Governor's Executive Order and therefore, if a formal AG opinion is sought it should be the Panel or the Governor's office requesting it. As neither I or the NG itself is officially part of the process, only certain members appointed by the Governor, it would not be me who asks for the opinion. It is also not my decision how you or the Panel chooses to proceed as, again, I am not part of that process. I suggest you ask for the opinion of the Governor's legal advisor, Josh Hicks, on how you should proceed. It is not I who asked for or raised the issue of the Open Meeting Law. It is my understanding that this issue was raised by Ron Bath. And, as the meetings that occur at the Guard are part of our Federal Processes and not part of a formal "State Public Body" established by State Executive or Legislative order or statute, the "State" open meeting laws do not apply.

At a recent BRP meeting, it was mentioned that you were wondering if BRP deliberations and meetings were subject to the open meeting law, and so we sought clarification. Please find the attached opinion rendered from the NNG's JAG office concerning the subject.

Since LTC Blower, as a department legal advisor, suggests an AG opinion, if such an opinion is sought, we would defer that request to you at the cabinet level. The long term impact of his conservative interpretation may very well open up all meetings you and the other senior members of the NNG conduct within and for the State of Nevada's Military Department. Please note that the BRP does not receive any "Nevada Tax Revenues" for its purpose, and will only craft alternatives for the Governor, but on the other hand, the NNG does receive tax revenues for its state mission.

If you desire, we are prepared to post notice and open the meetings to whomever might appear. In my humble opinion it could open "Pandora's Box" to long time National Guard mis-contents, anti-military groups and the likes. But the BRP wants to be totally within the bounds of the law at all times, and never jeopardize the Nevada Military Department. My suggestion would be that since we normally are discussing most issues at the classified level, that you to take the position that we are not subject to the requirement and that we press forward with our work. A middle ground alternative could be that we post notice and open the meetings once our report is ready to be forwarded to Gov Gibbons, but I am standing by to hear how you wish to proceed.

BG Fitch and BG Burks,

Attached please find my opinion concerning the BRP and Nevada's Open Meeting

Law (OML). As I note, this is my first foray into this issue, and am certainly not an expert on the issue. However, my review of the statutes and Attorney General opinions leads me to conclude that the BRP may be subject to the OML. I recommend that the BRP seek an opinion from the Attorney General's office to get a ruling on this issue.

Governor,

Given the current budget challenges and the economy being at the forefront of the issues that most citizens feel is the top one facing them, I think we should do what many other Governors have done and create a council of economic advisors. I have attached a copy of the framework that Governor Schwarzenegger established. The Governors of Michigan, Washington, Iowa, Minnesota, New Jersey and other states have set up similar groups. This would be a volunteer group that can meet as frequently as you need and serve as advisors to you and the staff. This is an opportunity to reach out to some folks and bring them onto the team. I would suggest that Monte, Sig, Jim Denton and others help us find the best economic minds to serve on this. Sig knows many of the members of the California group and can help us identify similar people in Nevada. We would have you sign an executive order to create the Governor's Council of Economic Advisors.

If this is something that you would like create, I can start to work on the list of advisors.

GOVERNOR SCHWARZENEGGER ESTABLISHES COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISORS

Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger today announced the establishment of the Council of Economic Advisors.

Reno Newspapers, Inc. v. Jim Gibbons et al.

Case No. 08 OC 00364 1B

PRIVILEGED AND CONFIDENTIAL

The 16-member council will serve in an advisory capacity to the Governor on economic matters. The council will meet with the Governor periodically to assist him in confronting the economic challenges facing the State in addition to identifying economic opportunities for California. The Council will be chaired by former Secretary of State George P. Shultz. The Governor has also established a Commission on Jobs and Economic Growth. The co-chairmen of the Jobs Commission, Warren Hellman and Ronald Olson, will serve as ex-officio members of the Council. Secretary Shultz will also serve as an ex-officio member of the Commission on Jobs and Economic Growth to facilitate coordination and communication between the two entities.

"The people of California elected me to return economic vitality to the Golden State by creating a more competitive economic environment that encourages job creation," said Governor Schwarzenegger. "This is a group of brilliant individuals with a clear understanding of the complexities of our economy and the steps necessary to rebuild it. I look forward to gaining their insight and advice as we work together to improve California's economic and jobs climate."

Secretary Shultz is the Thomas W. and Susan B. Ford Distinguished Fellow at the Hoover Institution. He was sworn in on July 16, 1982, as the sixtieth U.S. Secretary of State and served until January 20, 1989. In January 1989, he rejoined Stanford University as the Jack Steele Parker Professor of International Economics at the Graduate School of Business and as a distinguished fellow at the Hoover Institution. He is a member of the board of directors of Bechtel Group, Fremont Group, Gilead Sciences, and Charles Schwab & Co. He is also chairman of the J. P. Morgan Chase International Council and the Accenture Energy Advisory Board. He was awarded the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor, on January 19, 1989. He also received the Seoul Peace Prize in 1992, the Eisenhower Medal for Leadership and Service in 2001 and the Reagan Distinguished American Award in 2002.

Council members:

Dr. Annelise Anderson is a research fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University with expertise in the area of governmental economic reform. She was associate director of the Office of Management and Budget in the Reagan Administration and focused on domestic budget policy. She served on the Commission on Privatization in the Reagan Administration and Governor Pete Wilson's Council of Economic Advisors. Prior to her service in the federal government, she was professor of economics and finance at California State University, Hayward. In addition to her service within the United States, Anderson has advised the governments of Russia, Romania and the Republic of Georgia on economic reform. Anderson earned her Ph.D. in Business Administration from Columbia University.

Dr. Martin Anderson is the Keith and Jan Hurlbut senior fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University. Anderson has been a senior fellow at the Hoover Institution since 1971, with his primary attention devoted to research and writing on domestic policy issues. He served in Washington, D.C. as a key policy advisor for President Nixon and President Reagan. His public service also includes membership on the President's Economic Policy Advisory Board from 1982 to 1989, the California Governor's Council of Economic Advisers from 1993 to 1998 and as chairman of the Congressional Policy Advisory Board from 1998 to 2001. He has also taught at Columbia University's Graduate School of Business as a professor of finance. Anderson received his undergraduate degree and a Masters degree in engineering and business administration from Dartmouth College and his Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Industrial Management.

Dr. Gary S. Becker, who won the Nobel Memorial Prize for Economic Science in 1992, is a University Professor of Economics and Sociology at the University of Chicago and the Rose-Marie and Jack R. Anderson senior fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University. He is recognized for his expertise in human capital, economics of the family, and economic analysis of crime, discrimination, and population. His current research focuses on habits and addictions, formation of preferences, human capital and population growth. Becker serves as a research associate of the Economics Research Center at the National Opinion Research Center and as an associate member of the Institute of Fiscal and Monetary Policy for Japan's Ministry of Finance. He was a professor at the University of Chicago from 1954 to 1957 and taught at Columbia University for twelve years before returning to the University of Chicago in 1968. In 2000 he received the National Medal of Science for his work in social policy. Becker attended Princeton University as an undergraduate and earned a Masters and a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Michael J. Boskin is a senior fellow at the Hoover Institution and the T. M. Friedman Professor of Economics at Stanford University. He is also a research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research. In addition, he serves on several federal advisory panels and as an adviser to presidents and prime ministers, finance ministries, and central banks around the world. Boskin served as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers from 1989 to 1993 and the blue-ribbon Commission on Consumer Price Index. Boskin also serves on several corporate boards of directors and has authored more than one hundred books and articles. In addition to Stanford and the University of California, Boskin has taught at Harvard and Yale. Boskin has received numerous professional awards and citations, including Stanford's Distinguished Teaching Award in 1988, the National Association of Business Economists' Abramson Award for outstanding research and its Distinguished Fellow Award, the Medal of the President of the Italian Republic in 1991 for his contributions to global economic understanding, and the 1998 Adam Smith Prize for outstanding contributions to economics. Boskin earned his Bachelor of Arts from the University of California at Berkeley, where he also earned his Master of Arts and Ph.D.

Dr. Tom Campbell, an economist and lawyer, is the Bank of America dean and professor of Business at the Haas School of Business, at the University of California, Berkeley. Before assuming the deanship at the Haas school, he was a law professor at Stanford University for nineteen years. He was a member of the California State Senate from 1993 to 1995 and a United States Congressman representing the Silicon Valley from 1989 to 1993 and again from 1995 to 2001. During his congressional tenure he authored the 1998 Food Bank Relief Act and the 2000 Peace Corps Reauthorization Act. Since 2003, Campbell has served as the chair of the World Affairs Council of Northern California. He holds a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Chicago and a Juris Doctorate from Harvard Law School, where he served on the Board of Editors of the Harvard Law Review.

Dr. John F. Cogan is the Leonard and Shirley Ely Senior Fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University and a professor in the Public Policy Program at Stanford University. He was an associate economist at the Rand Corporation from 1975 to 1980. In 1979, Cogan was appointed a national fellow at the Hoover Institution. In 1980, he was appointed a senior research fellow and in 1984 he became a senior fellow. Cogan interrupted his academic career in 1981 to enter public service as assistant secretary for policy in the U.S. Department of Labor. In 1983, he joined the Office of Management and Budget where he was first named associate director for economics and government and subsequently associate director for human resources. In 1988, he was appointed deputy director of the Office.
